

Your concept comes as a montage with all its color
That's the sacred living
Idea
Like the stained colored glass in the Cathedral
Your dedication and the final Painting is what
Your idea gave Birth to
But is not as vague
Or perfect even
Because it is guided more more and more by the constraints of the world in and outside of your head
Those were shadows before they appeared to You.
Now as well the arts of your soul are limited and constrained and brought to fruit
By us and the limited skills you
Have. All art is subject to constraints